“ I love you so much. You were gentle and honest. You were my first black male teacher, you were proof that love and patience means more than words can ever express. Thank you.

“ What a pleasure it has been to talk with Leo through the cancer journey. His smile and kindness lit up his face and brightly lit up his eyes. To his children, I'm sure you know it, but he told me every time we met how proud he is of each of you. He trusted you will continue to grow and learn to be even better versions of yourselves in the years to come. Yvonne, he loved you so deeply and always wanted to be at home with you. I pray that love and connection lives deep in your heart, comforting you through the pain of grief. To his beloved mother, know that he wanted to care for you yet he treasured being able to talk with you through some of the difficult times. I am honored and feel great privilege to have known Leo. His memories will live with me. May we all continue the legacy of the best parts of him with us through the rest of our lives.

God has called you by name. You belong to God fully now, and we are blessed by you.

“ My Brother! You were one of the first people I met when I moved to Denver and we have remained friends since then. I have fond memories of us riding around the neighborhood in Montbello blasting music n your car. I also remember spending countless days/nights hanging out at the house eating dinner, listening to music, and joking around with Mom, Trish, Tash, and Bernie. I pray that God comforts your Wife (Yvonne), Mom, sisters, children, and extended family during this difficult time. I love you my friend. RIH
