“ The night of December 3rd, Rick called me excited about moving to Thailand and starting a new business venture. I felt honored he trusted me to help him with his website. We talked for over an hour about politics, religion, and life. He's such an easy person to talk to about anything. A few days ago I tried to call him about his website and found his phone was disconnected then came across this sad news. I had the privilege of working with him at Centurylink and he will be missed. I'm grateful to have known such a great guy.

“ There are so many, it’s hard to pick just one. The thing I will miss the most is his laugh and laughing with him. He never met an enemy and was one of the most lovable and loved people I will ever know. I will always look back at all the memories with a smile.

“Rick was a very nice person. I welcome him to my home in Louisiana. We enjoy his company the time he spend with us. My husband as well enjoy him too. And when we came to Denver to visit we enjoy being with him. I call him to go to bingo and he was nice and kind to bring me and pick me back up. Rick we will truly miss you take your rest. Love you until we meet again. R. I. P
