“ Richard was a magical person. He took on the world and conquered most everything he set his mind to. He is the father of 3 amazing girls (young women) and a grandchild. He helped people in fact helping others was the reason he became ill in the first place. He was an extremely private person and didn't share that he was as sick as he was. He was a fighter and was so strong. He was fierce about his family and making sure they were taken care of but also always there for a "dad" lecture which I know his girls will miss so much--he loved them. He loved nothing more in this world than them.

He served his country which allowed him opportunities and experiences that he took advantage of every time. He was brilliant in his thinking and processing but had the most amazing sense of humor that would drive you nuts but something that is missed fondly every day since he is not here.....he is missed, he is loved, he will always be honored and respected. Everyone who has met him remembers him and those that were closest have a piece of their heart missing. Be at Peace Steele we will honor you till the end of time.

“ Richard always entered the room with the warmest presence and most serious face. His early years were filled with heartbreak as his mother passed and left this void in him. A void that he took and filled with courage and depth. He served his country, earned his Masters degree and became the nicest man that I have ever known.

His mischievous chuckle would make me laugh because he was rarely mischievous, He owned a 1001 Polo shirts, Lol. He always drove me crazy with his frozen dinners because he was too lazy to cook most nights. He would never let me pay for our lunches or dinners, even when I invited HIM. He always amazed me at how giving and loyal he was. The epitome of a gentleman.

He was always about helping others and had this heart that he always gave so freely, he rarely kept anything for himself. Until one day, his heart decided that it had nothing left to give. But his spirit remains, deep in the souls of those he shared himself with. My only regret is that I won't have the opportunity to say goodbye, to see your face one last time.

Richard, I know that your heart has stopped beating but that spirit of yours has dispersed onto this Earth, elevating it's beauty and longevity. I miss you. I love you. Thank you for being such a great friend and person. <3
