“ I recall Wallace starting a Saturday art class for girls in Parkhill when I was a child. My parents shopped at Mighty Mart for YEARS and Wallace invited me to the art workshops while my mom was shopping. Years later I worked for various museums and she invited me to volunteer at the Black American West Museum....she was a friend to our community and exemplified "Black Girl Magic" long before our current generation. I am thankful for her efforts and send condolences on behalf of the Chambers, Small and Spears families.
